

Cuba dawned this Monday as he longed to do it for a long time. Too many months of pandemic confined to the little ones at home, but Cuban science made the miracle possible. Sovereigns and happy came to the classrooms for the reunion; After the nasobuco he could draw the smile that a few tried to turn off.

While foreigners painted a country in chaos from the networks, with colors of state failed to each stroke, our doctors, teachers, scientists, workers, peasants ... came out like every morning to give the best of itself for this archipelago, bent on building a Model maybe utopian but possible, if everyone makes the part that touches him and makes love.

The pandemic that still accompanies us and with which we should learn to live, started many lives. No world health system was prepared for size increase in cases, and Cuba was not the exception.

It was then the time to grow as human beings, and there are out there as witnesses who must last, several groups of solidarity, tissues also between social networks, to donate medications, inputs, food or simply love, in times of material and spiritual deficiencies .

There was and there are, embarrassment, a lot of opportunism in the midst of cruel disease, when, taking advantage of the goals of a blocked Cuba, and financed by the United States Government, some try to destabilize the constitutional order, approved by the majority of Cubans .

Although in social networks they are often magnified, they do not find a significant support in the people, that that longs to improve economically, but based on effort, without restrictions from the United States and under the flag of socialism.

No one denies the problems that, beyond the blockade, laceran our dailyness. Like us, we have to join us to solve them: What better that this account surrender to ventilate all and debug how many we can solve if we put a heart to the common work?

November brings hope, with a high percent of the vaccinated population and the opening of tourism, driving engine of the economy. It returns a normality that still requires the use of the nasobuco and that brings new ones, at the same time of the multiple transformations announced.

Focus on materializing each idea, without burocratics or schemes, listening and taking out from the discourse of each one the best for most, they are urgent tasks of this school year that did not start only for children but for all Cubans. As a country it is tested every
